PRICE THREE CENTS.

FOUNDED IN 1871.

THREE "STICK UPS" ARE SENTENCED

Green and Thomas Given Minimum of Five Years at Dannemora—Benson Max. Serve Only Three Years.

Three colored prisoners were sentenced this morning when county court convened at 10 o'clock. All of them are guilty of the same crime, robbery, first degree. District Attorney Traver first moved judgment in the case of The People vs. Cicero Green. Green was found guilty last week in connection with the North street holdup last fall. He said in answer to the usual questions that he was born in Alabama and that his last place of residence was Hornell, that he could not read or write and that he had never before been convicted of any crime. In the absence of H. Westlake Coons, who defended Green, Chris Flanagan appeared for Mr. Coons and asked that the court be lenient in imposing sentence. The sentence of the court was that the prisoner be confined to Clinton State Prison at Dannemora at hard labor for an indeterminate term, the maximum of which is nine years and the minimum five years.

Henry Thomas, also known as "Blue," who was found guilty Tuesday night of holding up a crap game at Malden along with one "Big Bill" Reed, was next sentenced. He said he was born in Tennessee and that his last place of residence was Prattville, that he could read and write and that he had never been convicted before of any crime. The sentence of the court was the same as in the Green case, a maximum of nine years and a minimum of five years at hard labor.

Judgment in the case of The People vs. Roscoe Benson was next moved. Benson was one of the highwaymen in the North street robbery but he pleaded guilty to the crime charged. Andrew J. Cook, who was assigned to defend the prisoner, asked that some consideration be shown in this case as the prisoner had come forward and entered a plea of guilty and had thus saved the county a great amount of expense. Also, he said, that Benson probably was not intent on robbery on the night in question and it was not thought that Benson had a gun until one of the other members of the gang furnished it to him. District Attorney Traver joined in Mr. Cook's request.

The sentence of the court was an indeterminate term in the Clinton State Prison at Dannemora at hard labor, the minimum of which would be three years and the maximum six years.

Court then went into recess until this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

JUROR LOWTHER STRICKEN IN COURT

Christopher S. Lowther of Saugerties, who has been attending the January term of county court as a juror, was suddenly taken ill this morning at the court house. Dr. Henry Van Hovenberg, who was at the court house, was summoned and after an examination had the city ambulance convey Mr. Lowther to the Kingston City Hospital. It is thought that Mr. Lowther suffered a slight stroke. Mr. Lowther has been staying at the home of L. B. Wood on Highland avenue, and Mr. Wood who is employed by the city engineer, was notified.

NEW SNOW STORM MAKES A BUSINESS LIKE START

About 11 o'clock this morning another snow storm broke over Kingston, and by noon sidewalks that had been shoveled were again hidden from view under a mantle of white. The rainstorm Saturday and Sunday which was followed by zero weather has made walking exceedingly dangerous and the snow today covered the icy glare making footing very uncertain. Many who were out during the morning found it much safer to walk in the road.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Albany, Jan. 24.—A decision by Governor Smith on the charge of incompetency he made against Walter W. Law, Jr., of Westchester, president of the state tax commission, is expected late today or tomorrow. By Telegram to The Freeman. Spangled Banner. General Henry T. Allen, commander of the Americans, received the banner in his arms. A band from the Eighth United States Infantry, drawn up opposite the French, broke into the "Marseillaise" as the French tri-color was hoisted. The French and American commanders saluted each other. The final act came this afternoon as the doughboys, amidst the tearful farewells of German girls and the doleful goodbyes of German men, piled into the troop train which was scheduled to steam away shortly after 4 o'clock.

LIQUOR LEAK IN CUBAN LEGATION

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, Jan. 24.—One of the "leaks" through which great quantities of fine whiskeys and champagnes have been poured into thirsty Washington, has been stopped, prohibition officials said today, by the arrest of John J. Lynch, 23, and his subsequent confession that he obtained his supplies through the Cuban legation.

Lynch made an affidavit, according to the police, in which he implicated a number of servants at the legation. A search of his apartment disclosed a considerable stock of Scotch, rye and champagne and a client list de luxe on which appeared, the police said, the names of many persons prominent in business and social life of the capital. The names were withheld.

Every embassy and legation in Washington is permitted to bring liquor into Washington under diplomatic immunity. According to the prohibition authorities, a clique of employees at the Cuban legation supplied Lynch with liquor, thus plied Lynch with liquor and thus plied Lynch with liquor and thus plied Lynch with liquor.

It is probable the state department will be appealed to by the prohibition authorities to make representations to the Cuban legation in the matter, and also to tighten up on diplomatic permits.

The plant when it arrives will be set up on one of the city's lots near Delaware avenue. It will have a capacity of 8,000 square yards a day and will be used in turning out sheet asphalt, which is said to be similar to Willite. The plant when set up and in operation will cost in the neighborhood of $18,000.

VERDICT FOR MRS. NETTER UPHOLD BY JUDGE STALEY.

In the case of Mrs. A. V. Netter against David W. Squire, Judge Staley, of the supreme court, has just handed down a decision upholding the award of the jury. Mrs. Netter, through her attorney, Harry H. Flemming, held that the defendant had entered into an agreement with her to convey a certain parcel of real estate known as No. 49 Chester street, which agreement was broken by the defendant. The defendant set up as a defense that no agreement had been entered into with the defendant and furthermore that his wife refused to execute a deed of the premises to the plaintiff. The jury awarded a verdict in favor of the plaintiff in the sum of $350 and costs. Judge Staley in his memorandum holds that, through correspondence, legal agreement was entered into by the defendant and that said agreement was binding upon both the defendant and plaintiff. He further finds that under the evidence the amount of the award is just and reasonable and fully justified by the evidence and by the measure of damage applicable to this case.

SMALL FIRE IN EAGLE HOTEL CHIMNEY

Is Easily Extinguished With Chemicals by Wiltwyck Hose Firemen. Soot in the chimney leading from the large open fireplace in the office of the Eagle Hotel caught fire Tuesday evening about 9 o'clock and a still alarm was sent to Wiltwyck Hose headquarters and members of the fire department quickly responded. Chemicals were put into the chimney by firemen from the roof and the fire was soon extinguished. Much smoke poured into the office and the office floor was covered with the black soot, that was forced down the chimney flue. No damage to any extent was done beyond the work of cleaning up the mess made by the soot and smoke in the office.

GERMANS DENY TROOP MOVEMENT STORY; RUHR PRODUCTION CRIPPLED

Thyssen and Others Tell French Court at Mayence They Must Obey German Orders—Thousands Return to Work But Other Thousands Remain Idle.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Mayence, Jan. 24.—"I am a German, I know only the German laws and I obey only the German laws," declared Fritz Thyssen, Ruhr coal operator, when arraigned today before a French military tribunal, charged with disobedience.

Thyssen made a dramatic address to the court, concluding: "I will never be a traitor to my fatherland."

Thyssen is the son of August Thyssen, owner of a chain of coal mines and iron and steel mills in the Rhineland and Ruhr. "He and five other German mine directors were arrested on Saturday and brought here for trial. They had been ordered to work their mines to full capacity, turning over the coal to the French, but refused."

At the opening of the trial there was much wrangling over the competence of the court to try the defendants.

Dr. Grimm, attorney for Thyssen, declared that the military tribunal was without jurisdiction and attacked the whole procedure.

Dr. Grimm's objections were overruled by the president of the court and the proceedings continued.

Thyssen was the first witness called. A detachment of French infantry, with bayonets fixed to their rifles, guarded the court where the trials were conducted.

M. Radin, the French prosecutor, in outlining the military's case against the defendants, asked that fines be imposed.

All the prisoners were given an opportunity to address the court. They followed the lead of Herr Thyssen, pleading their inability to obey the French because they were German subjects bound by German laws.

Dr. Grimm called attention to the statement by the French government that occupation of the Ruhr was an economic measure. In view of this fact, he said, the French were not justified in setting up a military court to try offenders arrested under an economic regime.

Dr. Grimm had as his assistant M. Le Clerc, of Nancy.

The court consisted of a major, a captain and a lieutenant.

Essen, Jan. 24.—Thousands of striking German coal miners in the Ruhr returned to work today pending the outcome of the trials of Fritz Thyssen and other coal operators at Mayence. They threatened further trouble if the coal magnates were convicted and punished.

All of the Ruhr is more or less isolated from the balance of Germany and some parts of the occupied areas are nearly cut off entirely, owing to interruption of rail and wire communications.

The production of coal and steel products has fallen sharply owing to strikes and shortage of coal.

Despite the strikes and excited condition of the German people, there has been no attempt toward organized sabotage and very little damage of any kind.

The miners, mill workers and railway men were worked both by the French military authorities and the German magnates, not to destroy property.

Some railroad switches and signal boxes were damaged near Bottrop, northwest of Essen, but the loss was nominal.

The French are threatening to take over the railway lines, telegraphs, telephones and public services, as well as the mills and mines on a general requisition order unless the Germans give in. It is unlikely, however, that such a drastic move would be made for some time, possibly ten days or two weeks.

Additional French labor is being imported into the Rhineland for the French have begun to doubt the efficiency of requisitioned German labor.

Paris, Jan. 24.—Disagreements have arisen between French engineers and army officers in the Ruhr, which threaten to disorganize the mining industry still further, according to reports reaching the newspaper L'Ere Nouvelle today.

The French military authorities in the Rhineland continue to arrest German officials.

The German finance directors at Cologne and Treves were taken into custody on the charge of disobedience and obstructing justice.

At Dusseldorf the Belgians arrested the mayor and held him for court martial on the charge of disobeying French orders and inciting passive resistance among minor German officials.

German customs employees in the Mayence zone have gone on strike, refusing to work under French officers.

German employees in the state-owned forests in Wiesbaden and Speyer, refused to take orders from the French. The French have taken over all the state-owned forests to be exploited during the period of Franco-Belgian occupation.

"No matter what happens we cannot avoid remaining in the Ruhr for a long period," said the Petit Parisien. "Therefore, we are consolidating and centralizing both our civil and military positions. It is probable that General Weygand (chief of staff to Marshal Foch), will be appointed high commissioner."

Berlin, Jan. 24.—Passive resistance in the occupied areas of the Rhineland and Ruhr is gaining, although it is meeting great hardships upon the people, German officials declared today. They said that the German workers were "displaying laudable patriotism."

Although the Ruhr is being isolated from the rest of Germany, Berlin is not yet confronted with an actual fuel famine. Coal has been arriving from surplus stocks.

Wilhelmstrasse denies the French allegation that "heavy troop movements are under way in the interior of Germany."

IS THIS REMEDY TOO SIMPLE FOR WORLD'S CANCER EXPERTS

Veteran Ulster County Clergyman Vouches For Several Cures of Dread Malady With Common Salt After Learned Surgeons and Doctors Had Failed.

Editor, The Freeman: Has a person who has information which might be helpful to others, a right to keep it to himself? The question is hardly open to debate. There seems to be but one answer. Reading and hearing much about cancers lately has urged me to this. Years ago I became acquainted with Mr. C., a prosperous merchant in Troy, N. Y. A few years later I met him again, and during our conversation he pointed to a place on his cheek and said: "I have had a cancer since I saw you. Do you see the scar?" I had not noticed it until he called my attention to it, as nature had done its work so well. "Naturally my next words were, 'How did you cure it?'" "I was treated by the best doctors in Troy. A salve which was prescribed would heal it, but soon it would break out worse than ever. At last the doctors said 'We can do no more for you. You will have to go to Dr. Kingsley at Rome, N. Y.' (To my personal knowledge, Dr. Kingsley has cured many cancers.) He continued: "I was not quite ready to go for treatment, and as my wife wished to visit some friends just over the Vermont line, we drove over. While there I met with an accident and while my leg was not broken, it was injured so that my return was delayed several days. "At that time the cancer had eaten a hole in my face large enough to put in a marble. I kept it covered with court plaster. "While lying on a couch a neighbor called one day to see me. He quickly discovered my condition and said: 'You have a cancer. Why do you not cure it? I will tell you how. Put some common table salt in it several times a day.' It seemed too simple to be true, but as it cost nothing and could do no harm, I began the treatment. Soon the discharge ceased and one after another the five roots which were eating in different directions disappeared. Now using the salve which previously was not curative, the healing was completed, just as you see it now." And he added, "Not long since I met my doctor on the street and he said, 'Mr. C., my son had a cancer and your son told him how you cured yours, and he has cured his in the same way.' I have mentioned this many times and sometimes used it in preaching to illustrate how very simple things might accomplish great results, and also with the thought that it might help someone. In one case at least it was useful. At the close of my pastorate in Chatham, a prominent member of my church called and told me that she could not let me leave without telling me of how much assistance I had been to her. She stated that years before she had trouble with one side of her face which was pronounced cancer by the best surgeon in Albany, and as it was in its incipient state, he removed it. But every few years it would trouble her, but repeated operations had kept it in control. She was about to go to the doctor for another operation when she heard my statement. She immediately tried the treatment and was cured and, as I learned years after, it never troubled her again. I have also heard of others being cured by the treatment. So I pass it on to any who may need it. I am confident in the opinion that if the cancer is on the surface, where the salt can be applied, it will affect a cure." P. N. CHASE.

A RHINOCEROS TREED RAISER

Gallup Had Exciting Time With an Enraged Brute and a Rubber Tree in the Heart of the Dark Continent.

The big rhinoceros stirred uneasily as it sniffed the air suspiciously turning its huge head, armed with an ivory horn, from side to side in an effort to locate what had disturbed it. The big brute's eyesight is not of the best and it depends largely on its power of smell.

Raiser Turk, member of the round-the-world Galluppers, was well aware of that fact, and as he crouched behind a huge tree he was softly cursing himself for having indulged in his favorite pastime of eating onions for the evening meal. After the meal had been cleared away Raiser had decided that a walk in the moonlight was just the thing to settle the meal.

He had wandered off into the forest leaving his companions gathered around the camp fire splashing yarns. Several days had passed since the rescue of Fatty Clink from the hands of cannibals by Captain Roadboy, and since then the Galluppers had placed considerable distance between the village and themselves. They were sticking into the heart of the Dark Continent.

Suddenly the rhino snorted in anger. He had gathered a whiff of the onions and lowering his head he plunged in the direction of the trembling Gallupper. Before the animal reached the tree, however, Raiser had clambered up into the branches, but the oncoming brute must have been so strong that the huge brute collided with the tree and its huge horn, passed completely through it and became so firmly imbedded that the brute was unable to free itself.

In its efforts to break loose from the tree the animal shook the tree until it fairly quivered the entire sixty feet of its height. It was at that instant that Raiser realized that he had sought refuge in a rubber tree for he suddenly lost his hold and was hurled high in the air.

Then followed an experience that Raiser would not care to repeat for a million dollars. The huge rubber leaves on the tree reacted to the brute's shaking in such a way that Raiser was bounced from leaf to leaf like a rubber ball. As fast as he felt himself slipping to the ground he would grasp widely for a branch and again would be hurled into the air.

Just how long Raiser would have been bounced about in the rubber tree is hard to say but suddenly when he had about given up all hope he felt himself falling toward the ground and reaching out in an effort to save himself he grasped hold of the extended trunk of the brute which had passed completely through the tree.

With such force had he grasped the horn that he bent it flat to the tree so firmly imprisoning the rhinoceros that the brute was unable to pull the horn out.

As Raiser picked himself up from the ground and saw what his fall had accomplished he realized that he was safely delivered from the horn of the brute and after kicking it heartily in the flanks he set off for camp to secure assistance.

The Galluppers returned to the scene with Raiser and with the aid of some tools the tree was split open and the animal released but not until it had been bound in such fashion that it was harmless and unable to escape. Strange to say the brute showed no disposition to free itself from the ropes but kept glancing at Raiser with wistful eyes. It realized that it had been freed through the assistance of Raiser and finally became so tame that it allowed Raiser to ride it through the forest, when the Galluppers resumed their journey. The animal came in handy too as a pack animal and carried all the camp equipment during the remainder of the trip.

YOU SEE HER AT EVERY DANCE

She stands out—because the chairs on either side of her are generally empty.

"Ask Idalene to dance," whispers the hostess to her brother. And he answers, "Oh, have a heart." So she sits by the wall, tears gathering in her eyes, her feet looking awkward and prominent, her clothes dowdy and ill-fitting.

And the saddest part of it all is that she needs only her share of sunshine and sympathy and kindness to blossom out like a rose.

Rupert Hughes, who wrote "The Old Nest," has made another warm, human motion picture out of the universal story of the wall flower.

You will laugh over it—you will cry over it—and, oh, how you are going to take it to your heart!

DEAF HEAR as Well as Ever

A Ten Day Trial Without a Penny's Cost to You Will Prove It

Corrine Griffith

There is no longer any need for you to endure the mental and physical strain which comes from a constant effort to hear. A remarkable device has been perfected by the Deafograph Products Corporation by the use of which the deaf can hear as well as ever.

Now you can mingle with your friends without that embarrassing which every deaf person suffers. Now you can take your place in your social and business world to which your talents entitle you, and from which your affliction has in some measure excluded you.

Thousands have already tried this truly magical invention. Approved has been universal. Men and women who had tried without results practically every other device ever offered are heartiest in their praise. Letters tell of the happiness and prosperity this ingenious little instrument is spreading broadcast.

As exclusive agents in this city, we offer you the opportunity of trying the instrument in your home for ten days absolutely free. Call today and H&K tomorrow.

Comfort a Necessary Element.

For real comfort have a small stand at the side of your bed on which you keep a collection of books and magazines. This, with a well arranged light will give you an hour's comfortable reading many a night. Be a little careful in the choice of this stand; you will find that a stand with at least one shelf and a small drawer is very convenient.

Conclusion Gravelly Reached.

James was playing in the back yard. A little dog belonging to a neighbor came into his yard. James tried repeatedly to make friends with the dog, but the dog would only bark and snarl when he came near. Finally the child turned to his mother and said, "I don't think that dog shows the right spirit."

KINGSTON, N. Y., JAN. 24, 1923.

A college professor complains of two newspaper inches for the death of a prominent citizen and two columns for the illness of a famous horse. Sad—but doubtless that proportion was acceptable to the majority of the paper's readers.

Over in England they are beginning to adopt the rule that if an unemployed person who is receiving a weekly "dole" from the government refuses an offer of a job the dole shall be stopped. How hard-hearted! First thing we know England will get clear back to normal.

It is hard to believe the story coming from Paris through the Associated Press that the Academy of Moral and Political Sciences has withdrawn the 15,000-franc Audifrat Prize from Professor Charles Valliant because, after losing both arms from X-ray injuries sustained during his scientific researches, he was unable to sign the receipt for the money demanded by the said Academy. Can even soulless reptile go to such monstrous extremes?

To judge from a New York World reporter's account as an eye witness, the sea beyond the three-mile limit near Sandy Hook is literally black with rum-runners, their open decks piled high with "cases" of everything and their megaphones hoarse announcing prices to the crowding coveys of purchasers far and near. Though the real truth is doubtless startling enough, it rather looks as if this particular reporter fails to keep a firm grip on his love of romance.

Senator Lusk, in a statement relative to the Larkin pardon, called Governor Smith's attention to the fact that Larkin was convicted under the law passed after the assassination of President McKinley. There was good and sufficient reason for the adoption of the law, one would say, but that did not deter Governor Smith from granting the pardon to "Big Jim." The "Big Jims" all over the country will undoubtedly applaud the Governor and this may help in the next Democratic national convention.

Fiction writers have made good spies out of women, but in real life they are apt to be failures, according to Sir Basil Thompson, former head of the British secret service, who says: "The woman spy gets compunction at just the wrong moment. She has obtained information from some one who should not have given it to her, and then when she should pass it along she feels that it would be unfair to her informant and withholds it." In other words, a good spy can't afford to have either heart or bowels of compassion. The career of an open and above-board pirate is in some respects to be preferred.

ONE OF THE REASONS.

During Governor Smith's first term he scarcely lost a minute before attacking the state department of agriculture. He ordered investigations which did not disclose anything, and the inquiries did more to harm the department than they did to help it, even in the remotest manner. The orderly procedure of the bureau was blocked for a period of months, after which, notwithstanding the effort made to reveal "high crimes," those at the head of the department tried to make up for lost time. The expense of the investigation, with expert counsel fees, had to be met by the people.

The investigation was not accepted as a sincere move to improve the affairs of the department or to improve agricultural conditions. It was looked upon as purely political and as an attempt to get control of the bureau for political patronage. Governor Smith, it will be remembered, had some advanced ideas relative to agriculture, one of them being a commission to fix the price of milk, which, dairymen said, would ruin the dairy business forever and ever. Then, too, another "help" to the agricultural interests was Governor Smith's conception of daylight saving.

Now Governor Smith is after the agricultural department again. He wants to wipe out the farms and markets council and is ambitious to have one man at the head of the bureau. He says that it is all wrong, that nothing is right in connection with it, and that there should be a reorganization so that the Governor could name the single-headed commissioner. The Governor says that the department will never be efficient until it is reorganized by Democrats, the presumption being that Tammany Hall knows more about farming than men born and brought up in the country.

 3. Can I tell the age of a tree by appearance, examining, or cutting, and are all alike?

Answers to Tomorrow's Nature Notes.

1. Were the Bible quails same as our Bob-White?
 The Old World quails—probably the kind encountered by the Children of Israel—are not dissimilar in looks to our own, but they have very different habits. They migrate from Europe to warm regions of Asia, in winter, and go back to Europe in spring. It seems probable that the quails which fed the Children of Israel during part of their wanderings, were in process of migrating. Our quails go only on short journeys, looking for food. The eggs of ours are plain white; those of the Old World quails, spotted.

2. How did the dandelion get its name?
 The common name is a corruption of "dents-de-lion," a French name given on the supposition that the edges of the plant leaf looked like lion's teeth. The botanic name is Taraxacum officinale, the first word being from an old Persian name for a wild plant of the general character of the dandelion.

3. Is there any bug that walks without legs?
 Yes, so to speak, the beetle called Allorhina nitida, or locally known as fig beetle or Southern June beetle, during its larval stage moves by aid of bristles on its back, and might be said to be "walking." At this stage of its growth its legs are too short for locomotion but the stiff bristles allow some degree of progress.

HOME BUREAU NUTRITION CLASSES

Little brother's monthly report card from school used to be the big event in the family, although not always a happy one for brother. But when the family begins scoring their food habits and looking into their nutrition and health records, brother will have a chance to see what the family can be.

At the first meeting of the local leaders in the nutrition project, the nutrition specialist from the state college of agriculture discussed the particular value of milk, other vegetables as well as potatoes, whole grain rather than refined cereals, and the quantity desirable to use, with the local leaders from each community. The importance of such special foods as tomatoes and green leaf vegetables was also shown. Better nutrition and better health are bound to spread throughout the county, as the local leaders go back to their communities and pass on what they have learned to the women who cooperate in the project.

A food selection score card is being used in the project to show what has been wrong with the diet and where modification is needed. Improved health from changed practices will be noted on the card. Instead of getting 20 points for an arithmetic lesson learned, as little brother might get, each member of the family gets 20 points for eating vegetables other than potatoes twice daily. Two servings of fruit score 20. Instead of getting ten points off for whispering, the grown-ups get ten points off for drinking over two cups of coffee daily or for going without breakfast.

The score card at once shows each woman what the food habits of her family are. If defective nourishment means defective health, and every woman who enrolled in the project knows that it does, the idea is then to bring out what is defective in the nourishment offered the family. The score aims to do that. The local leaders are taking these score cards back into their communities, where each woman will score her family, and almost at once may discover why Mary has never any color, and why father gets so tired he can't sleep nights. Not enough fruit, may be or meat three times a day.

With the food selection score card goes the health record, with all the ailments listed that most commonly result from poor nutrition. This makes it possible to check poor health against poor food habits, and show that improvement in one means improvement in the other.

Any one interested in getting a score card and checking up her food habits may get one from the local leader in the following communities:

A New Theory of Reactivity.

"Children nowadays," grandmother said one day, "know nothing of home discipline. In my day the father was the head of the house and took an active part in governing it. But now children often ignore the father. The other day I was in the public library and heard the librarian explaining one of the rules to a pert and pretty high-school miss whose dress and demeanor were of the latest fashion. 'Your card of application,' said the librarian, 'is signed by a person of the same name as yourself. Now, I can't accept your application unless you present a card signed by a person not of your own family.' 'I brought back the card you gave me,' answered the girl, 'and it is signed all right.' 'Yes, but it is signed by a member of your family? Is this man who signed down here a relative of yours? The girl's face brightened. 'Oh, no!' she replied. 'He is not a relative of mine. He is my father.'"

China's Kingdom of the Dead.

In a gorgeous temple at Chin-fu sits the royally-robed figure of Confucius; about him stand statues of his chief disciples; extending into the distance is a cemetery, 13 miles in circumference, in which are buried tens of thousands of the descendants of this one man, Confucius. Some 40 miles north of the tomb of Confucius is Tai Shan, the holy mountain so closely connected with Taoism, the creed of the common people, Shantung is, indeed, the holy land of China, impregnated with significance for the swarming millions of the Celestial empire.—Scientific American.

NEW HIGH RECORD FOR WEEK IN CAR LOADINGS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
 Washington, Jan. 24.—As an evidence of the prosperity existing throughout the country, the railroads loaded 873,251 cars with revenue freight during the week ending January 13, establishing a new high record for this period of the year, the American Railway Association announced today. The total for the week exceeded by 102,948 cars, or 13.4 per cent, the previous week and was an increase of 159,060 cars or 22.3 per cent over the corresponding week last year.

In establishing the new high mark, new records for this time of year were made in the loading of merchandise and miscellaneous freight, which includes manufactured goods, considered one of the best indications to business conditions obtainable. Coal, grain, livestock and other commodities reflected great increases.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

ORANG-UTAN

"Hello, Orang-Utan," said Billie Brownie, "I've come to call on you."

"Hello, Billie Brownie," said the Orang-Utan, "I'm delighted to see you."

"It is good of you to say that to me," said Billie Brownie, "for you know you are one of my favorite creatures. You are so bright and so clever and so entertaining and so affectionate."

"Why thank you, thank you," said the Orang-Utan. "I am covered with confusion."

"And that doesn't mean that really there is something covering me all over that is like sawdust which I call confusion."

"It means that I am almost confused and mixed up and bewildered at being so flattered."

"Dear me," said Billie Brownie, "how many words you know."

"I hear them from the different people," said the Orang-Utan. "They come to the zoo and they talk and I watch them and I copy them."

"I had lots of fun with a little girl the other day. My keeper took me out of the cage and let me put my arm around her."

"The little girl liked it, too."

"Oh, she was much pleased that I was affectionate with her."

"And then I teased her, too."

"I threw sawdust at her and she threw it back at me. We had a great game."

"But dear me, Billie Brownie, here I am talking away and I wanted to ask you what was going on in Brownie-land."

"She Threw It Back."

"Are you coming here soon again?"

"Soon again," repeated Billie Brownie. "Why, dear me, do you want me to leave now?"

"That is a funny thing to ask me if I'm coming soon again while I'm still here. It isn't that you want me to leave now, surely, and are wording it as kindly as you can think of wording it?"

"Dear me, no," said the Orang-Utan. "It did sound a bit strange."

"But then, though you say I'm bright, I don't know everything, you see, nor how to say everything."

"What I meant to ask you was whether you meant to come with lots of the Brownies before long as if you did, some of the monkeys in the zoo were going to give a circus for you, and we rather wanted to know when that would be so we could begin our rehearsals and practices."

"You see, I thought of it the minute I saw you and I said to myself:

"Here is a good chance of asking Billie Brownie when they all expect to come and see us so we can give them a circus."

"That was what I was thinking about."

"You understand, don't you?"

"Oh yes, yes," said Billie Brownie. "And how wonderful it will be to have a circus given for us. How about all the Brownies coming at daybreak two weeks from today?"

"Fine," said the Orang-Utan, "and that will give us all time to practice our tricks."

"And now I have a song to sing to you, Billie Brownie."

So the Orang-Utan sang in his squealing voice:

I'm the Orang-Utan in a very fine brain;
And a great deal of admiration I gain
By the many tricks that I easily do;
From eating a meal to using a fork, too;
I'm friendly and happy and not like the gorilla,
Who sulks and won't eat and is thoroughly silly.

"You see," the Orang-Utan explained, "I wanted to make a rhyme though the gorilla is the name of the gorilla, as everyone knows, and not gorilla!"

"Please accept the Orang-Utan's apologies for the sake of the rhyme."

"And come in two weeks to the circus to be given for the brownies with many fine stunts in every cage!"

SEASONABLE GOOD THINGS

The English rusk is well known to be a delicious hot bread. To prepare them, set a sponge with a pinch of salt, half a yeast cake, well dissolved in half a cupful of water, and flour enough to make a thin batter. Beat well and let it stand where it will rise. When the sponge is light add two beaten eggs, one scant cupful of sugar, one-half cupful of melted butter and not quite four enough to make a dough to knead. Do not knead it, but let it double in bulk. Then, with well-floured hands, form the dough into biscuits and place in tins to rise. Bake in a moderate oven. Glaze each top of the rusks by brushing with powdered sugar and water.

Broiled Venison Cutlets.—Cut chops from a loin of venison. Brush them with melted butter or olive oil, sprinkle with salt and pepper and roll in bread crumbs. Broil over coals or under the gas flame until cooked to the right turn.

Good Old-Fashioned Butterscotch.—Put two cupfuls of brown sugar, one-half cupful of butter, four tablespoonfuls of molasses, two tablespoonfuls of water and two tablespoonfuls of vinegar into a granite kettle; stir until the sugar is dissolved, then boil without stirring until a drop becomes brittle, dropped into cold water. Pour into shallow pans to cool. When cool, mark off in squares.

Molasses Candy.—Make a sirup of two cupfuls of molasses, one cupful of sugar, three tablespoonfuls of vinegar and one tablespoonful of butter. Boil until it hardens in water; add a quarter of a teaspoonful of soda. Pour on a greased platter and, when cool enough, pull until light in color. Cut in pieces with the shears.

Popped Corn.—Prepare a large pan of popped corn. Make a sirup of one cupful of molasses, one-half cupful of sugar, a tablespoonful each of vinegar and butter. Boil slowly until the mixture is brittle when dropped into cold water. Pour a little at a time over the corn, mixing well until the corn is touched with the sirup. Two persons can do this much better, one to hold the kettle, the other to mix the corn.

MILK PRICE CUT TO PRODUCERS

League Directors Call For Reduction Of Cent A Quart To Meet Competition In New York—Effective January 17 and During February.

At the regular January meeting of the board of directors of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association the following reductions in the price of fluid milk and cream known as classes 1 and 2 were recommended to go into effect as of January 17th. No changes were recommended in the price which the farmers will receive for classes 3 and 4 which consists of milk made into canned milk, powdered milk, and the various cheeses.

Class 1 milk or fluid milk, beginning January 17th, will be sold for $2.90 per 100 lbs., and class 2 milk which is sold mainly as cream and ice cream will bring $2.50 per 100 lbs. These prices are for 3 per cent milk at the 200-210 mile zone.

The board voted to recommend that these prices also be continued for the month of February. This reduction of one cent per quart for fluid milk and cream was made necessary at this time because of the constantly increasing supplies of milk reaching New York market, a great deal of which seems to be coming from outside league territory from counties in lower Pennsylvania, not over 150 miles away. Simultaneously with the drop in price to the producers the league announced that it would also drop its price to its own consumers in New York city who are being served by the big league plant on 19th street. It is expected that other dealers cooperating with the Association will make similar reductions, although it is rumored that some dealers who are not cooperating will try to hold the old prices.

The situation in the New York market is not unusual at this time of the year and the action of the Association in giving its consumers the benefit of this was made necessary in order to protect and hold the market for the dairymen of the legitimate New York zone against invasions of milk from more remote sections.

DAIRYMEN'S PROBLEM.

Milk Producer Gives Figures and Asks a Discussion.

The Freeman has received the following letter from a prominent milk producer at Otego, with the request that it be given space, he hoping that the article will result in a discussion of the existing conditions and that some way will be found whereby he can remain a member of a cooperative organization and still receive a larger part of the amounts paid for his milk by the dealer:

Fellow Dairymen:—It has occurred to me that a sane impartial discussion of our dairy business, as conducted by the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, Inc., would be opportune at this time. I know of no better way to open up this discussion than by submitting facts and figures as indicated by my own production, with compliments and conclusions drawn therefrom. Preliminary to discussing this matter I wish to say I am speaking solely from the position of a milk producer, and that I am in favor of any co-operative based on a fair policy that will produce results.

I was one of the first to sign a pooling contract, but fortunately did not come under the operation of the pool until April 1, 1922. The following figures disclose what the pool has done to me for the period commencing April 1, 1922, and ending September 30, 1922.

For this six months' period I delivered to Borden's grade A plant at Otego, New York, 122,073 pounds of milk.

Over approximately 357 butterfat content for which Borden's paid to the pool (bacteria count premium deducted) $2,569.02, which is at the rate of $1.90 per 100 pounds 3 per cent milk, and for which I have received cash (bacteria count premium deducted) $1,809.20, which is at the rate of $1.28 per 100 pounds for 3 per cent milk. In addition to amount received I will have coming to me $154.38 in certificates due in five years, of which everyone gives his own value.

It appears from the foregoing that the difference between what Borden's paid for my product and what I have received is $759.82, which amount has been used up, in expense $84.40, certificate of indebtedness $154.38 and equalization $521.04. This amount of $759.82 is 28 1/2 per cent of all that Borden's paid for my product, and equals 42 per cent of the amount cash received by me. Based on the foregoing figures, I am forced to the conclusion that the Dairymen's League has fallen down on its job, for the reason that $1.90 per hundred is not a fair price to the producer for grade A milk delivered under the New York city health board regulations, the same being less than 16 cents per gallon, while the same milk was sold for 15 cents or more per quart in New York city. That the price received by me, $1.28 per hundred, was not a fair price for cheese milk delivered at any place in the United States for this period. In performance, I cannot see how the Dairymen's League justifies its existence, and coupled with its policy of equalization of prices all over the country, can hope or expect for the support of dairymen producing grade A milk. Stock Company Again Acquires Itself Well.

Margery Wilson in "Insatiation," is at Keene's tonight. The story is of a lovable and self-sacrificing actress who, through no fault of her own, is compelled to endure some of the cruellest buffetings that fate ever devised. Topics of the Day, Mutt and Jeff cartoons, news and a Sunshine comedy are the added attractions. Starting Thursday for a three day engagement is Charles Ray's United Artists' production, "The Tailor-made Man," by Rupert Hughes, starring Coleen Moore, at the Auditorium tonight, has the comedy and the human appeal that made Hughes' "The Old Nest" Broadway's biggest success. Roy Stewart in "The Radio King," is the chapter play tonight. Thursday Corinne Griffith in "The Angel of Crooked Street."

The Chicago Stock Company scored another hit at the Opera House yesterday when they presented for their second play a real glee chasing comedy entitled "Up in Mabel's Room," a farce by Wilson Collison and Otto Harbach.

Like the initial offering Monday, it was excellently staged and cast and kept the large audience in a constant uproar from the first curtain until the final one.

Today, matinee and night, the players will be seen in "Three Wise Fools," the love, laughter and mystery comedy that John Golden originally presented at the Criterion Theater, New York.

Thursday, afternoon and evening the attraction will be the New York Apollo Theater success "Sauce for the Goose," a story of a wife who just had to flirt to win back her husband's love after he had become infatuated with another.

"The Haunted House," said to outlast "The Bat," is offered Friday, matinee and night. "Smiling Through," in answer to hundreds of requests, will be repeated again Saturday afternoon and on Saturday evening the comedy "Not Tonight, Dearie," will be staged.

"Dangerous Love," the super-western feature to be shown at the Orpheum Theatre today is a screen version of the novel "Ben Hurman" directed by Charles Bartlett from a scenario by Hal Hoadley. The cast includes Pete Morrison, popular Universal Western star; Carol Holloway, Vitaphone serial star; Jack Richardson, Pathe serial star; Ruth King, Harry Von Meter, William Lyon West, Verne Layton, Claire Hatton, Zelma Edwards and others.

OPEN MEETING TO TALK OVER COMMUNITY HOUSE

Every person in the community interested in the problem of doing something to make better the life of the young girls of the community, and particularly the employed girls, should make a big effort to attend the open meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs to be held in the chapel of the First Dutch Church on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Many who know conditions in our city, however, are fully persuaded that there should be some recreation center for the girls, employed, school or home girls, where the life of our girls will be properly supervised. The questions in connection with the matter as it now stands are: "Shall we take up the work at once? Shall we take it up in a small way with the idea of growing gradually to something big? Shall we undertake to begin with a new and fully equipped building that could in some measure be self-supporting? And shall it be a community house or a Young Women's Christian Association?"

After the business session and consideration of the above-mentioned important matter, socials will act as hostess for the afternoon and will present the Rev. Lucas Boeve, pastor of the church as the speaker of the afternoon at 3:15 o'clock.

JOINER'S BILL WOULD HIT SLEIGH USERS
By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Albany, Jan. 24.—Virtually every sleigh in the state would have to be scrapped if a bill introduced in the legislature today by Assemblyman Webber A. Joiner, Republican, of Wyoming, is enacted into law.

The bill would require runners on sleighs to be at least four feet, eight inches apart. At present the runners are less than four feet apart.

Joiners denied the purpose of his measure was to have the sleighs provide tracks in the snow for automobiles.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Miss Nora McGrath died this morning at 8 o'clock at her home, 54 West Chester street. Notice of funeral later.

Mrs. Frank Anderson died at her home in Kerhonkson on Monday night after a sickness of a few weeks. Mrs. Anderson was a woman of rare qualities of mind and heart and was held in the highest esteem by all who knew her.

The Newburgh News says: William W. Terwilliger, for a number of years a resident of Newburgh, died in Woodstock, Ulster county, on Monday from apoplexy. The funeral services will be held on Wednesday afternoon, the body being sent to this city, arriving on Thursday to be buried in the family plot in Woodlawn Cemetery.

Mr. Terwilliger was born in Highland Falls, Ulster county, April 4, 1840, and was in his 83rd year of his age. He was one of 13 children born to Isaac D. and Maria Auchmoody Terwilliger. He lived at home, learning the carpenter trade, and at the call of President Lincoln for 300,000 troops October 1, 1862, he enlisted in the 169th Pennsylvania Infantry.

Mr. Terwilliger served nine months in the army and was then discharged. Coming to Newburgh on his return from the front he entered the service of Thomas Shaw's Sons, where he remained until 1874, when he formed a partnership with Cornelius S. Gibb and purchased the undertaking business conducted by the father of Gibb on Smith and Fourth streets. The partnership was continued until the death of Mr. Gibb in 1891, after which Mr. Terwilliger became sole proprietor. The business of Mr. Terwilliger was later sold to Calver & Gregory, and on the death of Mr. Gregory, C. Gilbert Calver and his brother, Harry D. Calver, became consolidated with that of E. M. Murtfeldt, the present firm of Murtfeldt & Calver being in part the successors to the business originally conducted by Gibb & Terwilliger.

Mr. Terwilliger married Miss Margaret Gibb in 1873. She died in 1875, leaving one son, Cornelius, who still lives. The second marriage was with Miss Martha J. Fancher, who died about four years ago. One son, William F., by this marriage, also survives. After disposing of the undertaking business in Newburgh Mr. Terwilliger resided in East Orange, N. J., where Mrs. Terwilliger died. Owing to poor health Mr. Terwilliger removed to Woodstock, where one of his sons lived.

Highland and Paltz Busses Run

Chipp's auto bus ran over its regular route today, the first for the past five or six days. If there is a let up soon in the storm we are having at present, the driver stated this afternoon that the regular course would be continued. The bus runs between Highland Falls and this city, going over the Old Hurley road, taking in Stone Ridge and Hurley.

The New Paltz-Kingston bus is now running through to New Paltz.

At the terminal today it was stated that the Highland bus line has resumed trips.

HOSPITALS GET SMITH'S ATTENTION

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Albany, Jan. 24.—Governor Smith today put the proposed half million dollar coliseum for the state fair grounds at Syracuse in the class of "desirables."

The purpose of the coliseum is to provide a place for a world's dairy conference and for a winter exhibition of New York's breeding and farming products. The governor said it was a very commendable plan, but that before the "desirables" should be taken care of.

In the class of "desirables," he placed more state hospitals.

"At present," said the governor, "there is an overcrowded condition in our state hospitals of 25 per cent. We are not building them fast enough to take care of the growing needs. One of the problems they are now meeting is that of securing sufficient help in the hospitals."

"I am told one of the principal reasons for the failure to get the right kind of help is the poor living and sleeping quarters provided the hospital attendants. We have got to take care of that situation before we take up the things that are merely desirable."

ISMET ASK NEWS
ANGORA ORDERS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Lausanne, Jan. 24.—Ismet Pasha, head of the Turkish delegation in the Near East peace conference, asked Angora today for fresh instructions in the Mosul crisis, and meantime the Turkish delegates indicated that they would not accept any decision the League of Nations might reach regarding the future frontiers of Mosul.

Deep pessimism hangs over the conference with the belief growing that it may break up any time. The statement of Richard Washburn Child, American observer, that the United States reserves all America's rights for exploitation of Turkish natural resources, is taken as an indication that there is no Anglo-American agreement regarding Mesopotamian oil fields, despite reports to the contrary. Washington is maintaining the viewpoint expressed in former Secretary of State Colby's Mesopotamian letter of November 20, 1920, that America insists upon equal commercial rights in all mandated territory.

LEADERSHIP GAME ON TONIGHT

When Local Representatives Battle With Hopkinton's Aggregation at Albany—Will Albany's New Players Make a Difference?

Kingston, leader in the New York State Basketball League, will face its closest opponents tonight when it battles with the Albany State League team at the latter's court. This is the biggest attraction for the Albany fans this season as the result of the contest will place either team at the head of the list. The local squad holds the lead by a half game.

The local representatives were the fastest combination during the first half race as was proven when they had an easy time gathering in the pennant laurels. Manager Morgenweck kept his club intact and so far in this last half race, the members have been doing good work. The best the Senators could do in the opening race was to defeat the local squad one out of five games.

But since the opening of the second half the Albany manager has secured the services of some new players. Joe Brennan, Ripley, Swede Grimstead and Eddie Matthews having been added to his list. Starting the struggle the Albany manager will probably use Riconda, Sedran, Honey Russel, Conway and Grimstead. Will these players make a difference?

Just who Manager Morgenweck will use is not known. Borkman and C. Husta, forwards; C. Powers, center; Artus and Harvey, guards; or Knoblauch in place of Artus, if the latter is still under the weather, could surely give the upstarts a lively time tonight.

Thursday evening at the local armory court the home club will again perform after a week's vacation. Troy will furnish the opposition. The strength of the Trojans is not known as they also have new men in their squad.

REPORT OF "Y"
BOYS' CAMPAIGN

Last Saturday's Freeman contained the report of the funds collected by the boys of the "Y" in their campaign. At the time it was stated that there were still some uncollected envelopes. The last stray scatterings from the campaign for finances for the "other fellow" have all been collected and the membership of the H. T. O. F. (Help the Other Fellow) Club is now complete. Everybody is happy for the generous response from the citizens who made this campaign a success. The boys who contributed from their own allowances were more than generous.

In most cases the money came in small amounts, over a hundred dollars being in small change. The collections varied from a single penny to five one dollar bills.

The following letter from W. H. Burger, state boys' secretary of the Y. M. C. A., shows the appreciation of Kingston's part in the making a success of the "State Boys' Week," to which forty per cent of the money collected in the campaign was given:

"To the Kingston 'Y' Boys:
Just as I said at the supper the other night, you're great stuff. Mr. Hall handed me a check for $60 after the meeting, which represents your contribution toward the promotion of 'Y' work in New York state. As I look over the list of associations which are contributing this year, I see that Kingston heads the list in proportion to size. Very few boys' divisions are giving $60, and none at all in the class of Kingston. You are in a class by yourself. And what you have done is giving us a good deal of heart to go ahead and work hard this coming year."

Mr. Hall, the boys' secretary of the local "Y," is mighty proud of the fellows and the way they handled the campaign, for the entire drive was handled by the boys themselves.

The following is the final and complete report of collections:
Y. M. C. A. and Hi-Y boys. $23.00
Team 1, Captain Longyear. 14.00
Team 2, Captain Le Ware. 19.00
Team 3, Captain Safford. 17.86
Team 4, Captain DuBois. 26.50
Team 5, Captain Stelle. 28.35
Team 6, Captain Wells. 21.32
Team 7, Captain Ronk. 13.50

JUDGE LANDIS
ON EATING TOUR

(By Sid Mercer.)

New York, Jan. 24.—Two sporting celebrities arrived yesterday from the west. One was Jack Dempsey. The other one was Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, who is not here to fight but is filling some gastronomic engagements on the eastern time.

Judge Landis claims to be a man of peace. He declined to be drawn into any strong comment on the rift between the two factions of his baseball official family.

"I am merely eating my way formally and informally through the states of Pennsylvania, New York and Connecticut," he said. "There is no pressing baseball business to bring me here—no conferences or secret meetings. I have not even called a joint meeting of the National and America Leagues for February, as has been reported. At this time there seems to be no urgent need for it."

Judge Landis will speak tonight at a baseball dinner in Reading, Pa. On Thursday night he will be the principal speaker at an American Legion dinner in Altoona, Pa. On Friday night he will be the guest of the New Haven baseball club at New Haven. Owner George Weiss and the fans of New Haven are banqueting Bill Donovan, who managed the New Haven pennant winners last season. Judge Landis will be the guest of honor. Other baseball notables from New York will be among the five hundred guests at the dinner.

Ban Johnson's pet scheme to create home run zones in major league ball parks, has struck a snag. Each league has a rules committee but playing rules can be changed only by joint action. According to Judge Landis, there will be no meeting of the joint rules committee next month.

"As I understand it," says the judge, "the meeting must be held by February 5, after 30 days' notice has been given. As far as I know the meeting has not been called."

Interviewers who inquired about the Rube Benton case, were themselves interviewed by the commissioner.

"I hardly think it comes under my jurisdiction," he remarked. "But just the same I am interested. I do not wish to see an injustice done. I have made no official investigation but I am gathering numerous informal opinions, and in the course of time I may have something to say." Asked if there was any chance for Pitcher Dick Kerr this year, the judge replied that Kerr had not applied for a pardon.
